Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament

April 15 2018 * 3rd Sunday of Easter
This past weekend I had the opportunity to host a dinner for six here at the Cathedral rectory. The dinner was an auction item as part of our Festival of Trees and Lights from last December. With the help of some of my family, I think we offered an enjoyable evening as well as delicious food for the winners of this auction item. I know I certainly enjoyed myself and thank those who were the winning bidders.

During the many topics of conversation at the dinner arose questions concerning the present situation of Cathedral House which receives the financial benefits of the Festival of Trees and Lights. Concern for our house and its everyday running has always been an important priority for our parish as we strive to meet the needs of our downtown homeless. For quite some time we have noted that the current life styles of our homeless do not mesh with the requirements that Cathedral House offers. In addition, reports from the agency that runs the house were lacking, so any real sense of our success in helping homelessness was unavailable.

Since we clearly see the needs of the men and women who are our resident homeless increasing, we realize our responsibility to use our financial gifts as prudently as possible. Thus, at the end of April 2018, we will no longer be sponsoring the Cathedral House. This is a difficult decision for our parish and especially our St. Vincent de Paul Society that developed and monitored this ministry. Since the restoration, this house has been an important sign of our continued movement towards revealing something of God’s Kingdom.

However, along with our important feeding programs and bill assistance for the homeless and local poor, we are already hard at work seeking better alternatives to meeting the housing and shelter needs of our homeless. Our Festival of Trees and Lights will continue to raise funds for our social service ministries and I personally encourage all of us to support our charitable works for the poor through prayer and financial giving. And although we are not a wealthy parish, all funding that was used to support Cathedral House will be directed to other avenues to assist our downtown homeless. May God continue to shed His grace and wisdom upon us as we strive to meet the needs of our brothers and sisters.

The Bible talks about feeding people a lot. Jesus’ first miracle is turning water into wine at a wedding feast. He turns five loaves of bread and two fish into a meal for 5,000 people. He repeatedly shares meals with “tax collectors and sinners”—the people that the rest of society ignores or despises.

So with all this focus on food in the Bible, it’s no surprise that Pope Francis came down hard on those who are not working toward feeding the hungry around the world. “The planet has enough food for all, but it seems that there is a lack of willingness to share it with everyone,” he said during a homily for the general assembly of Caritas Internationalis. He continued on to say that the powerful will face God’s judgment; they will have to answer for their care of the poor and the environment (or lack thereof).

There’s not much that’s ambiguous in the Pope’s words. Feed the hungry. Care for those who have nothing. Do not forget those around the world who are suffering from lack of food and drinking water. They might live in your own city or a continent away, but you are responsible for helping them.

Jesus is also pretty direct when it comes to caring for others. Feed the hungry, he explicitly tells the disciples, for “just as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to me.” (Matthew 25:45). Over and over again, Jesus tells us through his words and actions to care about people’s physical needs.

Pope Francis’ exhortation couldn’t come at a more crucial time. A recent Oxford University Press blog suggests that the way we produce food is harming the environment, leading to problems in water supply, soil degradation, and climate change. At the same time, the price of food is rising beyond what many people can afford to pay. After years of considering hunger a declining and solvable problem, the world is realizing that it’s still a serious issue.

Both the Gospels and the Pope’s sermon say that helping the hungry should be done out of love: both the love of God and love for one another. Only love is a strong enough force to overcome our problems. God will do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to me.” (Matthew 25:45). Over and over again, Jesus tells us through his words and actions to care about people’s physical needs.

I keep coming back to the idea of liberation theology, which, as you might have seen on the U.S. Catholic website, has been in the news lately. Liberation theology has become a heretical word for many Catholics. But at its core, underneath all the history and politics and terminology, liberation theology is about love. It’s about being willing to work so that “the poor” (defined broadly) have the same opportunities and right to life that everyone else does. Like Pope Francis’ command to feed the hungry, working to make this happen takes love and self-sacrifice.

Maybe, like Jesus, we need to be willing to look beyond the labels. “Liberation theology,” “tax collector,” “sinner”—underneath these words is a very simple idea. Be involved. Care for those who have nothing. Feed the poor. Not very ambiguous at all.

Call no man "Father"?

Evangelicals often accuse Catholicism of being unbiblical or even contrary to the teaching of Scripture. Popular fodder for such criticism is Matthew 23:9 which states unequivocally that we are to "Call no man your Father on earth, for one is your Father, which is in heaven", and since we refer to priests as "Father", they conclude that Catholic faith is not biblical and therefore to be rejected. However, we address priests as "Father", not in opposition to this verse, but because of it.

In the Old Testament, the Children of Israel believed that the identity of one's father was of particular importance, for a man extends his life on this earth after death by living on in the life of his children. To die without children was the worst fate one could suffer, for it meant that when you died your name and memory would pass away from Israel. According to the Law of Moses*, if a man died without children his brother (or nearest kinsman) was required to take the widow as a second wife and through her raise up children to be called by the name of his deceased brother. This is why there are so many genealogies and family trees preserved in the Old Testament; during the intertestamental period the Jews became preoccupied with these genealogies, to the point where the over-emphasis with one's family tree was almost a form of ancestor worship. In the passage quoted above, Jesus was correcting that perspective.

Jesus taught that all fatherhood on earth comes from the Father in Heaven, as Saint Paul writes, "I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and on earth is named (or more precisely in the original Greek, "of whom all fatherhood in heaven and earth is named"). In other words, all fatherhood in heaven and earth is named (or more precisely in the original Greek, "of who m...""). In other words, all fatherhood in heaven and earth is named. Matthew 23:9 Jesus is orienting the focus of Christian fatherhood toward its first and divine cause.

By the power of the Holy Spirit, the Father brought forth the eternal Son in the womb of Mary; through His Apostles, Jesus brought forth the Church, and thereafter, His ministry, His eternal Priesthood — even His divine Fatherhood over the Church — extends to the faithful through the sacerdotal priesthood by means of the Sacrament of Holy Orders. That is why we address the priest as "Father", we are acknowledging the Fatherhood of Christ over the Church. The Pope is "The Vicar of Christ", the Universal Pastor who cooperates with and administers the priestly Fatherhood of Christ in the Church. In communion with the Pope, the Bishop is the Vicar of Christ in the diocese, and the priest in the parish church; by the grace that comes through the Sacrament of marriage, a husband and a father is the Vicar of Christ in the home (or the "domestic church" CCC 1666, 2204, 2685; cf. Ephesians 5: 21-6:4).

All these relationships are part of an ordered hierarchy linked together by sacramental grace and the work of the Holy Spirit. To some we owe our obedience, for some we provide a nurturing and fatherly leadership, but to all this order is an ongoing revelation and expression of the Fatherhood of God.

* Deuteronomy 25:5-10, which is the background and centerpiece of the story of the marriage of Ruth and Boaz, a key part of Jesus' family tree, cf. The Book of Ruth, chapters 1-4; Matthew 22:24; Mark 12:19, and Luke 20:28

Next Sunday, April 22, marks the 48th anniversary of Earth Day, a secular celebration that many faith communities have incorporated into their annual calendars for awareness and action. This year, Catholic Climate Covenant focuses on how our overuse of single-use disposable plastics contributes to what Pope Francis calls “the throwaway culture.” From contributing to land and marine pollution to increasing our use of carbon-producing fuels, our reliance on single-use plastics has a devastating impact on God’s creation.

- Reduce your plastic footprint. Cut down on your consumption of goods that contain excessive plastic packaging and parts. If it will leave behind plastic trash, don’t buy it.
- Recycle what you can’t refuse, reduce or reuse. Pay attention to the entire life cycle of items you bring into your life, from source to manufacturing to distribution to disposal.
- Participate in a beach, stream, river, park, road cleanup.
- Support local bans on single-use plastic bags and Styrofoam.
- Avoid microbeads: Tiny plastic particles, called “microbeads,” are a growing source of ocean plastic pollution. Microbeads are found in some face scrubs, toothpastes, and body washes, and they readily enter our oceans and waterways through our sewer systems. Avoid products containing plastic microbeads by looking for “polyethylene” and “polypropylene” on the ingredient labels of your cosmetic products.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

If you ask me to tell you about one of my sons, my daughter, or my wife, I could spend quite some time elaborating on them as individuals and my interactions with them throughout the years. An authentic relationship leads each party into a rich knowledge of the other. If I have little to say about someone other than some incidental information or gossip, I cannot claim to really know him or her.

Indeed, every relationship has expectations. If we do not know the needs of the other or the responses expected in living out the relationship, we easily create division and separation. I do certain things for my children because I am a parent. I respond in certain ways to my wife based upon her needs. If I am oblivious, or just don't care, the relationship will move on a path toward hurt, pain, and in some instances, permanent separation.

To know Jesus is to love Jesus. The key is you actually have to know him. Knowing him is listening to his words and keeping his commands. Just like in all relationships, we will fall short at times. However, because we know the expectations we can then make amends and continue to grow together. So if I asked you to tell me about this friend of yours named Jesus, what would you say?

Sharing the Gospel - When Jesus came to his friends after Easter, they could hardly believe he was real. Jesus told his friends it was okay to touch him. Jesus had bones. He had muscles. He had scars from the cross. Jesus even ate a piece of fish to show that his stomach worked okay. Yes, they had all seen Jesus die, but God raised him to life. Moses and King David and the prophets had all written about the Savior. The Scriptures all came true through Jesus. He really is alive. If you believe in Jesus, don’t keep it a secret. Tell your friends that Jesus is their savior, too.

Prayer - God, give me the words I need. I want everyone I know to follow you.

Mission for the Week - Send a letter to the missionaries your church supports. Ask them how your family can help them spread God’s love with other people.

La semana pasada tuve la oportunidad de ofrecer una cena para seis aquí en la rectoría de la Catedral. La cena era un artículo de la subasta del Festival de Árboles y Luces en diciembre. Con la ayuda de algunos de mis familiares, yo creo que ofrecimos una velada agradable así como una cena deliciosa para los ganadores de la subasta. Ciertamente, yo me divertí y agradezco a las personas que ganaron la subasta.

Entre los muchos temas de conversación en la cena, salió la pregunta concerniente a la situación de la Casa de la Catedral que recibe los beneficios financieros del Festival de Árboles y Luces. La administración de nuestra casa y su funcionamiento diario han sido siempre una importante prioridad para nuestra parroquia mientras tratamos de resolver las necesidades de nuestros desamparados del centro. Por algún tiempo hemos notado que el modo de vida actual de nuestros desamparados no coinciden con los requerimientos que la Casa de la Catedral ofrece. Además, reportes de la agencia que la maneja no se recibían así que una ideal real de nuestro éxito en este servicio a los desamparados no estaba disponible.

Ya que claramente vemos las necesidades de hombres y mujeres sin hogar incrementándose, nos damos cuenta que es nuestra responsabilidad el usar nuestras donaciones financieras lo mas prudentemente posible. Por lo tanto, al fines de abril 2018, no se hició a mi "hambre" (Mateo 25:45). Una y otra vez, Jesús nos dice a través de "así como no lo hiciste con uno de los más pequeños, no me lo hacen a mí" (Mateo 25:45). No hay mucho que sea ambiguo en las palabras del Papa. Alimenta al hambriento. Cuidado para aquellos que no tienen nada. No olvides a las personas de todo el mundo que sufren de falta de comida y agua potable. Es posible que vivan en su propia ciudad o en un continente alejado, pero usted es responsable de ayudarlos.

Jesús también es bastante directo cuando se trata de cuidar a los demás. Alimenta al hambriento, explícitamente les dice a los discípulos, porque "así como no lo hiciste con uno de los más pequeños, no me lo hiciste a mí" (Mateo 25:45). Una y otra vez, Jesús nos dice a través de sus palabras y acciones que se preocupan por las necesidades físicas de las personas.

La exhortación del Papa Francisco no pudo venir en un momento más crucial. Un reciente blog de Oxford University Press sugiere que la forma en que producimos alimentos está dañando el medio ambiente, lo que genera problemas en el suministro de agua, la degradación del suelo y el cambio climático. Al mismo tiempo, el precio de los alimentos está aumentando más allá de lo que muchas personas pueden pagar. Después de años de considerar el hambre como un problema declinante y resoluto, el mundo se está dando cuenta de que todavía es un problema grave.

Tanto los Evagelios como el sermón del Papa dicen que ayudar al hambriento debe hacerse con amor: el amor de Dios y el amor mutuo. Solo el amor es una fuerza lo suficientemente fuerte como para superar nuestro propio interés y ayudarnos a hacer los sacrificios que son necesarios para estabilizar el problema del hambre y asegurarnos de que todos tengan suficiente comida para comer.

El voluntariado de la Catedral, que no seamos una parroquia opulenta, todos los fondos que fueran usados para pagar nuestra parroquia serán dirigidos hacia otras avenidas de asistencia para los desamparados del centro.

Que Dios nos continúe repartiendo sus gracias y sabiduría mientras nos esforzamos en ayudar a nuestros hermanos y Hermanas en necesidad.

Fr. Michael
La corresponsabilidad diaria - Reconocer a Dios en los momentos ordinarios

Si me pides que te cuente acerca de uno de mis hijos, mi hija, o mi esposa, podría pasar mucho tiempo hablando de ellos como individuos y de mis interacciones con ellos a través de los años. Una relación auténtica nos lleva a todos hacia un conocimiento profundo uno del otro. Si tengo poco que decir de alguien, que no sea información accidental o chisme, no puedo decir que lo conozco bien.

Claro, en todas las relaciones hay expectativas. Si no sabemos las necesidades del otro o las respuestas esperadas de una relación, podemos fácilmente crear una división y separación. Hago ciertas cosas para mis hijos porque soy un padre. Respondo en ciertas maneras a mi esposa dependiendo de sus necesidades. Si actué de manera inconsciente, o no me importa, la relación seguiría hacia un camino de dolor, de daños, y en algunas instancias, de separación permanente.

Conocer a Jesús es amar a Jesús, lo importante es conocerlo. Conocerlo es escuchar a sus palabras y ser testigos de ellos. Conocer a Jesús es amar a Jesús, lo importante es entender sus palabras y ser testigos de ellas.

Meditación evangélica - Alentar entendimiento más profundo de la escritura

Cada año, los tres primeros domingos del Tiempo de Pascua el Evangelio trata de las apariciones de Jesús resucitado a sus discípulos. Hoy a pesar de estar en el ciclo B que es propio de San Marcos la lectura es tomada de Lucas y es continuación del relato de Emaús. Fijémonos, en los acontecimientos y la forma evangelizadora del Señor. Saludo de paz, el susto y el miedo de los presentes es notorio, las dudas de algunos de ellos, el soplo del espíritu, la misión confiada y llevar la Buena Nueva a todos. La misión entonces y ahora es: ser testigos de su resurrección. Todos los elementos dados ayudan a entender el Misterio Pascual. Nuestra oración debe ser pedirle con fervor al Señor que nos ayude a abrir el entendimiento, para que como nos dice el Papa Francisco de verdad ser auténticos discípulos misioneros de Jesucristo.

Vivir la liturgia - Inspiración de la semana

¿Por qué estas preocupaciones? La vida se puede llevar lo mejor de nosotros. Las ansiedades, preocupaciones, dudas, e inquietudes son algunas cosas que perturban nuestros corazones. Muchas veces nos preocupamos con cosas temporales. A veces nuestra fe nos perturba y nos preguntamos dónde puede estar Dios. Si dejamos que Jesús abra nuestras mentes para que podamos entender las Escrituras y el significado de su Pasión, Muerte y Resurrección, podemos empezar a confiar en que el plan de Dios incluye algo mucho más de lo que nos preocupa momentáneamente, Jesús puede entonces ser una luz de revelación, que nos ayuda a vivir con perspectiva y perseverancia.

SEEK WITH LOVE AND FAITH! by Fr. Nicholas Ho

As we hear last week’s Gospel proclaimed, let us imagine Mary's blinding grief. She watched her Master tortured, witnessed his crucifixion and found his tomb empty. How great must she loved Him to go to the tomb alone, unafraid when all the others were? Her faith is a wondrous thing. Even in grief and bewilderment, Mary came to the tomb. Do we not encounter similar moments in our life, when we need God but do not feel His presence? Mary's faith teaches us - that we will find God if we seek with love and faith. Mary's faith transforms her grief to Joy when she meets the Risen Jesus. This Easter, let us remember that we are here to rejoice in a promise fulfilled by the tremendous Love and Power of God. Jesus is indeed risen! Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia!
