Is it me or does it feel like there are a lot of bad things going on around us these days? The fires are currently still raging throughout California, some five hundred migrant children are still separated from their parents, more pain and scandal in church leadership, life in Central America seems to be spinning out of control, climate change and melting glaciers, poorly expressed tweets and civility near extinction, heat and smoke and temperatures rising. All of these concerns persist amidst the usual global concerns of hunger and civil wars and lack of freedom. Add to this our personal stress of economics, death, addictions and health issues and we can really start feeling like things are pretty heavy right now.

During Jesus’ day, much of these kinds of things existed as well. People were in exile and freedoms were limited. Hunger and addictions and fear and mental illness, natural disasters and drought, bad politicians and greediness and tax payments were all a part of his experience. He did not hide from these things. He spoke to the exile, healed the foreigner, fed the hungry, challenged the leadership and dealt in a real way with the things of this passing world. He also continually reminded his disciples that there was a greater kingdom to pursue, a kingdom in which these evils no longer existed. In that kingdom we would know the peace and joy that come from being united with the Father and one another.

Jesus addressed the concerns of his day and still helped his disciples realize there were greater and better things awaiting them. In fact, it seems that addressing the concerns of this world and this time builds up our true treasure in heaven. There is much we can do to respond to the needs of this world. We can reach out to a stranger, conserve our resources, spend a little less, pray for the world, be present to a family member, turn off the television, move beyond your anxieties and make it clear that there is more to life than what we experience now. We can live as a true disciple of Jesus, with faith, hope and charity.

Supervised by the Arts & Environment ministry lead, Chris Houlemard, the courtyard on the north side of the cathedral just received a much needed facelift. The area landscaping went mostly neglected and after so many years, was looking shabby. The potted trees were mostly dead from improper maintenance. The mature trees that used to be on either side of the stairwell were, in fact, a hazard. Their shallow root system meant they could possibly fall over without warning. The new maple trees have been planted properly, which will help maintain their health, and they will provide beautiful color and blooms during the coming seasons.

JVM Landscape Construction, Inc., a family owned landscape company, volunteered their labor to make the necessary changes to the courtyard. John Martinez is the Superintendent of Construction, and his wife, Martha Martinez, handles Scheduling and Customer Service. His Daughter, Lacie Martinez, is the company’s Landscape Designer. His son, Jay, oversees the company overall, and is a Sacramento State Alumnus. John, his wife, and all three of his children are active in the Catholic Diocese of Sacramento, bettering our communities by serving the poor, disenfranchised, and homeless of Sacramento. See jvmlandscapes.com for more information.

The restoration of the cathedral was nearly thirteen years ago. During that time, thousands have passed through the cathedral doors. That kind of traffic takes a toll on any structure, and over time, causes damage that must be corrected, not only for appearance, but for safety and the integrity of the overall building. Over the coming weeks, parishioners will begin to see more maintenance work taking place, inside and out.
The Story of the Solemnity of the Assumption of Mary

On November 1, 1950, Pope Pius XII defined the Assumption of Mary to be a dogma of faith: "We pronounce, declare and define it to be a divinely revealed dogma that the immaculate Mother of God, the ever Virgin Mary, having completed the course of her earthly life, was assumed body and soul to heavenly glory." The pope proclaimed this dogma only after a broad consultation of bishops, theologians and laity. There were few dissenting voices. What the pope solemnly declared was already a common belief in the Catholic Church.

We find homilies on the Assumption going back to the sixth century. In following centuries, the Eastern Churches held steadily to the doctrine, but some authors in the West were hesitant. However by the 13th century there was universal agreement. The feast was celebrated under various names—Commemoration, Dormition, Passing, Assumption—from at least the fifth or sixth century. Today it is celebrated as a solemnity.

Scripture does not give an account of Mary’s Assumption into heaven. Nevertheless, Revelation 12 speaks of a woman who is caught up in the battle between good and evil. Many see this woman as God’s people. Since Mary best embodies the people of both Old and New Testaments, her Assumption can be seen as an exemplification of the woman’s victory.

Furthermore, in 1 Corinthians 15:20, Paul speaks of Christ’s resurrection as the first fruits of those who have fallen asleep.

Since Mary is closely associated with all the mysteries of Jesus’ life, it is not surprising that the Holy Spirit has led the Church to believe in Mary’s share in his glorification. So close was she to Jesus on earth, she must be with him body and soul in heaven.

Reflection - In the light of the Assumption of Mary, it is easy to pray her Magnificat (Luke 1:46-55) with new meaning. In her glory she proclaims the greatness of the Lord and finds joy in God her savior. God has done marvels to her and she leads others to recognize God’s holiness. She is the lowly handmaid who deeply reverenced her God and has been raised to the heights. From her position of strength she will help the lowly and the poor find justice on earth, and she will challenge the rich and powerful to distrust wealth and power as a source of happiness.

A Pilgrim Creates Daily Rhythms to Ground Himself

A pilgrim is someone who is rooted and centered with a solid foundation of stability, particularly in the midst of chaos and uncertainty. This is not so different from the root system of a tree. Though unseen, the root system is vital to the tree, establishing it and sending it nourishment. Even when the limbs are shaken violently in the wind, the tree remains in place, all because it is grounded by its roots.

Walking the road to Santiago de Compostela or simply walking to the bus stop on our daily commute, we are all pilgrims on a journey. And whether we want to admit it or not, chaos can show itself on each road we travel, always uninvited and often throwing us off course. The pilgrim knows, however, that it is only through facing these trials and laboring through the chaos that transformation can take place and new life can be born. And so, in order to remain rooted through the journey’s challenges, like the roots of the tree, the pilgrim establishes daily rhythms to remain grounded.

One valuable way for the pilgrim to root himself is by establishing a daily rhythm centered on awareness and spiritual practices. The pilgrim who creates a daily rhythm commits time each day for regular and deepening spiritual engagement - a rhythm which, like the nourishment of water for the tree, creates stability and facilitates growth. The pilgrim also knows the importance of cultivating time each day for self-care, searching within himself to determine his present physical, spiritual, and emotional needs and committing to honor them.

When the violent winds in life threaten the pilgrim’s path, the pilgrim has deep roots that he can depend on because of his daily rhythms. In the midst of challenges, these daily rhythms in the pilgrim’s life help to ground the pilgrim, calling him back to awareness and intention.

PRACTICE - Allow your time of spiritual practice to also be a time of self-care. Make yourself a hot cup of coffee to help you wake up, and a quiet place, and consider adding to your practice something you enjoy doing but don’t often have the time to do, such as writing, painting, or playing a musical instrument. Nourishment of the self is nourishment of the soul, nourishment of the soul is nourishment of the spirit, and God delights in nourishment.

What else do you need to help you thrive when trials arise?

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP

What else is there to give when one has already given away their body and their life? What more can one say or do to demonstrate love for another when all they have has been given to another? This total giving of self to loved ones cannot be trumped by flowery words or material gifts that are fleeting. This is the ultimate in love. This is the love Jesus had for us on the way to his passion, at the institution of the Holy Eucharist. This is the love he has for us daily in the celebration of the Mass on altars in every church, in every city, in every nation on earth. No one can give more. No one can ask for more. This is the true heart of Christian stewardship.

If you take the time to gaze upon your God in the simplest of forms and begin to reflect on what has actually taken place with bread and wine becoming the presence of the Divine, then you can begin with the simple actions of the day: where will you body at the meal where you are an honored guest, you become when you have the privilege to take that Real Presence into your when you have the privilege to take that Real Presence into your body and their life? Sharing the Gospel - In today’s Gospel reading, Jesus compared himself to manna. A long time ago God's people ate manna in the desert, because there was no other food to eat. By sending manna falling from the sky every morning, God taught his people to trust him. Manna tasted good, and it kept them healthy. God took care of them and gave them all they needed. Then, hundreds of years later, God sent Jesus down from heaven, so people could have everlasting life with him.

Prayer - Dear God, thank you for sending Jesus down from heaven so that we can look forward to living with you forever in heaven. Amen.

Mission for the Week - The Hebrews often baked manna into little cakes. Ask your parents if you can make pancakes this weekend, and talk about how Jesus is like manna.
Esquina del Pastor
Padre Michael O’Reilly

¿Soy yo o siento que hay muchas cosas malas sucediendo a nuestro alrededor en estos días? Los incendios continúan actualmente en todo California, unos quinientos niños migrantes aún están separados de sus padres, más dolor y escándalo en el liderazgo de la iglesia, la vida en Centroamérica parece estar fuera de control, el cambio climático y el deshielo de los glaciares, los tweets y civilizaciones poco expresados, el calor y el humo y las temperaturas subiendo. Todas estas preocupaciones persisten en medio de las preocupaciones mundiales habituales sobre el hambre y las guerras civiles y la falta de libertad. Aprecio a esto nuestro estrés personal de economía, muerte, adicciones y problemas de salud y realmente podemos empezar a sentir que las cosas son bastante pesadas en este momento.

Durante el día de Jesús, muchas de estas cosas también existían. La gente estaba en el exilio y las libertades eran limitadas. El hambre y las adicciones y el miedo y las enfermedades mentales, los desastres naturales y la sequía, los malos políticos y la avaricia y el pago de impuestos fueron parte de su experiencia. Él no se ocultó de estas cosas. Habló al exilio, curó al extranjero, alimentó a los hambrientos, desafió al liderazgo y trató de manera real las cosas de este mundo que pasa. También recordó continuamente a sus discípulos que había un reino más grande a seguir, un reino en el que estos males ya no existían. En ese reino sabríamos la paz y la alegría que provienen de estar unidos con el Padre y el uno con el otro.

Jesús se dirigió a las preocupaciones de su época y aún así ayudó a sus discípulos a darse cuenta de que había cosas mejores y mejores que les esperaban. De hecho, parece que abordar las preocupaciones de este mundo y esta vez construye nuestro verdadero tesoro en el cielo. Hay mucho que podemos hacer para responder a las necesidades de este mundo. Podemos acercarnos a un extraño, conservar nuestros recursos, gastar un poco menos, orar por el mundo, estar presente con un miembro de la familia, apagar la televisión, superar sus ansiedades y dejar en claro que hay más en la vida de lo que experimentamos ahora. Podemos vivir como un verdadero discípulo de Jesús, con fe, esperanza y caridad.

PRÁCTICA: Permita que su tiempo de práctica espiritual sea también un momento de cuidado propio. Prepárese una taza de café caliente para ayudarlo a despertarse y un lugar tranquilo, y considere agregar a su práctica algo que le gusta hacer, pero que a menudo no tiene tiempo para hacer, como escribir, pintar o tocar un instrumento musical. La nutrición del yo es alimento del espíritu y Dios se deleita en la nutrición del alma, la nutrición del alma es alimento del espíritu y Dios se deleita en la nutrición. ¿Qué más necesita para ayudarlo a prosperar cuando surgen las pruebas?

LA CORRESPONSABILIDAD DIARIA

¿Qué más hay que hacer cuando uno ya ha entregado su cuerpo y su vida? ¿Qué más puede hacer o decir uno para demostrar el amor hacia los demás cuando todo lo que tiene ya fue entregado a otro? Este dar completo del ser hacia los demás no se puede comparar. Este es el amor más grande. Este es el amor que Jesús nos tuvo en el camino a su pasión, en la institución de la Santa Eucaristía. Este es el amor que nos tiene diario en la celebración de la misa en el altar en cada iglesia, dentro de cada ciudad, en todas las naciones del mundo. Nadie puede dar más. Nadie puede pedir por más. Este es el verdadero corazón de la corresponsabilidad Cristiana.

Si toma el tiempo de fijar su mirada en Dios de las formas más sencillas, y comienza a reflejar lo que ha tomado lugar en el pan y el vino convirtiéndose en la presencia Divina, entonces usted puede comenzar a entender la verdadera hu-

MEDITACIÓN EVANGÉLICO

Los judíos murmuraban porque Jesús había dicho: "Yo soy el pan que ha bajado del cielo". Y decían: Conocemos a su padre y a su madre, ¿no es cierto? Él no es sino Jesús, el hijo de José, ¿Cómo puede decir que ha bajado del cielo". (Juan 6:41-42). En este Evangelio, seguimos leyendo el discur-

VIVIR LA LITURGIA
La vida puede ser confusa. Las demandas y los retos diarios pueden nublar la visión. Uno se puede cansar porque mucha su energía se requiere para manejar nuestras vidas cotidianas, y por lo tanto nuestras vidas espirituales se desatienden. Saint Clare

Saint Clare was born at Assisi in AC1193 from a noble family. When she was eighteen years old, the Stigmata of St. Francis went to Assisi to preach. She was so touched was she heard the preaching. She asked Francis to guide how to follow the teaching in the gospel, the standard Christian life. Francis urged her to return to God, to give up everything including the worldly lives, to follow Christ.

In the year 1212, the Palm Sunday, Clare attended the ceremony of blessing the palms at the Cathedral in Assisi. The bishop distributes the holy branches, and the parishioners receive them before the altar. She was too shy to go forward. The bishop saw that, came over and handed the blessed palm to her. In the evening of the same day, she left her family and went to the church in Badinggula City. Francis and Franciscans led her to the altar and performed the tonsure for her. At that time, there was monastery for women in the city, and she was sent to the Benedictine’s monastery for women. As the news of her secretly leaving home to monastery came out, her relatives and friends wanted to force her to return to the worldly lives. She hugged the altar and do not let go. She showed them her short hair and said that Christ had called her. She has decided to dedicate and offer herself to the Lord and not willing to change her mind. Her friends and relatives gave up and stopped obstructing her to go to the monastery.

In AC 1253, Clare’s health had been deteriorating over the years, and Pope Innocent came and visited her. In the seventeen days before she passed away, she did not eat anything. She said to herself, "Move forward in peace and don't be afraid. God has sanctified you, protected you, and loved you like a mother. O Lord, you created me and may you be praised!" After saying these words, she passed away. On August 11th, 1253, she had lived for 60 years and spent 40 years in monastic life. Her body was buried on August 12, and the holy church celebrates her on that day. In 1255, Pope Alexander IV canonized her as a saint.
