A PILGRIM PRACTICES SOMATIC SPIRITUALITY

by Lacy Clark Ellman | asacredjourney.net

som·at·ic  [soh-mat-ik], adjective
1. of the body; bodily; physical

It is the body that carries the pilgrim from one place to another and the senses that serve as a conduit for the many cultural and spiritual experiences that permeate her being along the way. Even in the interior journey, the pilgrim knows that external sensations can help guide her to her core. In fact, if there weren't any bodily significance in physical pilgrimage, then it wouldn't serve as such a powerful metaphor for our journeys in life, would it?

This is where somatic spirituality comes in. Somatic spirituality is simply a faith that incorporates the body as a vital participant and resource in our spiritual search.

Need an example? If you grew up in a Christian family, it is likely that you have been trained spiritually in words, whether by reading the Bible, Scripture memorization, conversation, or prayer. While each of these things is valuable, some days you might find yourself feeling exhausted by all of the words, longing to practice a faith where you can connect spiritually - and sometimes far more profoundly - in other ways. God did not create us with only a mind and call us "good" - God also created us with bodies that can be vessels of spiritual expression as well as reception.

Our bodies carry just as much wisdom and insight as our minds. In fact, our bodies have the ability to tell us truths about our condition that our minds won't allow to surface as we try to maintain control. The pilgrim on a physical journey know this truth, engaging holistically in the practice of pilgrimage by incorporating not only the mind, but also the body in her spiritual search.

PRACTICE~ Walk a labyrinth. If you don't have one nearby, follow a simple walking path. Start at home, walk toward your destination (the "center" of the labyrinth), and then return home by the same path. When walking toward the "center", contemplate your journey toward God. Once you reach your destination, pause for awhile in the presence of the Divine. As you return home, ponder how you will integrate your Sacred Encounters into everyday life.

How does your body communicate in ways words cannot?

St. Hildegard (1098-1179) was declared a Doctor of the Church in October 2012, four months after her canonization. Pope Benedict XVI, who gave her this title, confirmed the exemplary character of her life and writings as a model to all Catholics. Hildegard is also known for her writings on botany and medicine. She believed it’s possible to prevent illness through nutrition. She maintained that medicine must consider the whole person: “When the body and soul work in perfect harmony, they receive the supreme reward of joy and health,” she explains.

This selection of medicinal herbs below is recommended by St. Hildegard. The descriptions are taken from her classic work Physica, a book still recognized by herbalists today. Of course, we can’t guarantee they’ll be effective — and you should always consult with a qualified healthcare professional — but you may want to consider incorporating these natural herbs into your life.

Lavender “Whoever cooks lavender in wine, or if he has no wine, honey and water, and frequently drinks it when it is warm, will lessen the pain in his liver and lungs, and the stuffiness in his chest. It also makes his thinking and disposition pure.” - Physica XXV

Fennel “In whatever way it is eaten, it makes a person happy, and brings to him a gentle heat and good perspiration, and makes his digestion good...Eating fennel or its seeds every day diminishes bad phlegm and decaying matter, keeps bad breath in check, and makes one’s eyes see clearly.” - Physica LXVI

Galingale “One who is ailing from bad humours in his back or side should boil galingale in wine and frequently drink it warm, and the pain will cease. One with pain in his heart, or with a weak heart, will soon be better if he eats enough galingale.” - Physica XII

Sage “One who suffers from rheumatism should cook sage in water, and it, the humors and phlegm will diminish in him.” - Physica LXIII

Hyssop “Hyssop is useful in all foods. It is more beneficial pulverized and cooked than raw. When it is eaten the liver becomes lively, and it cleanses the lungs somewhat.” - Physica LXV

Nettle “Nettle is not at all good eaten raw, because of its harshness. But, when it newly sprouts from the ground, it is good when cooked, as food for a human. It purges his stomach and takes mucus away from it. Any kind of nettle does this.” - Physica C

Thyme “If someone adds thyme to good herbs and condiments, it carries off the putrid matter of his ailment by heat and strength.” - Physica CCXIII

Spearmint “Just as salt tempers all food, if too much or too little is added to foods it is bad, so too spearmint, added moderately to meat, fish, purées or other nourishment, offers a good flavor to that food, and is a good condiment. Indeed, eaten so, it warms the stomach and furnishes good digestion.” - Physica LXXVIII

Basil “A person who has palsy in his tongue, so that he is unable to speak, should place basil under his tongue, and he will receive speech. Also, one who has strong fevers, whether tertian or quartan, should cook basil in wine, with honey added. He should strain it and drink it frequently, with or without food, and at bedtime. His fevers will cease.” - Physica CXXV

Savory “A person who has a frail heart and a weak stomach should eat savoury raw, and it will strengthen him. If one with a sad mind eats it, it will make him happy.” - Physica XXXVIII

Cinema Divina Movie Review

"For Greater Glory"

In light of the Fourth of July we recently celebrated, it can be an unsettling thought that a government could wield its authority to have our freedoms (religious and otherwise) removed in an astonishingly short period of time with relative ease. I for one am thankful that it has not happened here, at least not to the extent that it could.

This 4th of July, I spent the evening watching the film "For Greater Glory." I know you might be saying that's not a film about America's Independence, or even Mexico's for that matter, but it is a film about a nation's struggle for its religious freedom and that's the connection I highlight here.

This film brings to our view the documented history of such events that took place in Mexico just over a century ago. Events that are quite startling.

I originally watched "For Greater Glory" when it was released in theaters. I liked the film but remember thinking to myself that it was a difficult film to watch. Difficult at least in certain aspects that I was unprepared to reconcile with my Catholic Christian experience; namely what sacrifices am I willing to expend today on this side of eternity for the greater glory? Many faithful Catholics died to preserve the faith in Mexico and we have benefited from the ultimate sacrifice of many. This film honors that legacy.

Written by Michael James Love and directed by Dean Wright, "For Greater Glory" is a historically faithful telling of the Cristófer War in Mexico, 1926 - 1929. The relationship with Mexico's government and the Catholic Church had been deteriorating (Where have we seen that before?). A despot-like character in Mexico's President Plutarco Elias Calles is portrayed very effectively in the film by Panamanian actor Ruben Blades. Calles decides the Catholic Church has to go and he's the man to do it. There is a considerable amount of war and political violence deserving of its heavy "R" rating, but this film is telling a story and it never strays from that purpose.

This is a big budget film with a Hollywood cast consisting of Peter O'Toole ("Lawrence of Arabia"), Andy Garcia ("Ocean's Eleven"), Eva Longoria, Oscar Isaac ("Star Wars"), whom collectively deliver a compelling and engaging film with cinematic impact. Andy Garcia's performance is considered by some, among his best work.

With every viewing, my appreciation of "For Greater Glory" has grown. The film treads upon some controversial matters (i.e. Christians and priest taking up arms, America's duplicitous interest in the Mexican government vs its concerns for its common people, and the Catholic Church's response to the state's imposition upon the faithful). As a result, the movie can feel weighty in tone and unpleasant in the scenes related to the above-mentioned realities and that's not necessarily a bad thing, but our common experience tells us that sometimes the truth hurts.

In the end "For Greater Glory" does accomplish an edifying telling of a history for which we are the better for remembering, and one we should never forget. Viva Cristo Rey!
CATHOLIC FUNERAL & CEMETERY SERVICES, a Ministry of the Diocese of Sacramento, will have representatives here in Mercy Hall after each of the Masses, next weekend, July 28 and 29. They will be giving a brief presentation where you can get all of your questions answered about the Church’s teachings regarding funeral and burial. They are here as your resource through one of life’s most difficult times. HAVE YOUR MARRIAGE BLESSED IN THE CHURCH - If you would like to have your civil marriage blessed in the Catholic Church, please call or email Deacon John at the Cathedral Office to explore this possibility: 444-3071 Ext. 11; jgisla@cathedralsacramento.org. This can often be done in a small, private ceremony called a Convalidation, without any cost or fee. If you have been together for a number of years and would like to be married in the Church, this can also often be done in a small, private ceremony without any cost.

OUR LADY OF FATIMA STATUE - We invite you to take home a 29.5" statue of Our Lady of Fatima and pray the Holy Rosary. She was given to the Rosary Club as a gift to promote praying the Most Holy Rosary among friends, neighbors, families, communities, and children. Please contact Lolita via text/voicemail at (916) 213-5862 or by email Loli-ta.Urrutia@gmail.com if you are interested in this invitation. God bless you and all in your heart!

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP

My daughter can easily become overwhelmed by having so much to do. She recently graduated from high school, and many times during those four years, she found herself going crazy from being involved in so many things. Sports, drama, youth group, homework, friends, and more all demanded a slice of her attention. Sometimes the slice of time that remained wasn’t much and one does have to sleep!

A good everyday steward can get caught up in doing so much and giving so much that he or she loses sight of the fact that you cannot give what you do not have. If you have no time left, you cannot give that. If you have no energy left, you cannot give that. Finally, if you find yourself agitated and overwhelmed, you cannot give that which others benefit from the most: YOU!

Even when we plant seeds in a garden after tilling and watering the soil, we must rest and wait for there to be growth. If we do not take time to rest and recharge, we are not allowing time for God’s grace to bring forth new life in us. We fear that things will suffer without us, but the truth is that no one is benefiting from our fatigue. We can think we are giving but really we are empty. Take some time and rest in your God. Retreat and recharge. Then you will be able to share once again.

This week, July 22nd to the 28th, is NATURAL FAMILY PLANNING AWARENESS WEEK, an annual campaign of our diocese and of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. This year the week coincides with the 50th anniversary of Humanae Vitae, Pope Paul VI’s landmark encyclical that restated Catholic teaching about human sexuality, conjugal love and responsible parenthood. The July/August edition of The Catholic Herald is dedicated to this anniversary.

Copies of the Diocese of Sacramento’s NFP brochure, in both English and Spanish, are available at the Cathedral. You can also listen in to related radio broadcasts on the Bishop’s hour on Immaculate Heart Radio and in Spanish on Radio Santisimo Sacramento.

Sharing the Gospel
Have you ever just wanted to be alone for a while? Jesus and his disciples knew what that felt like. They wanted to be alone to talk and rest, but crowds of people were surrounding them. Even when Jesus and his disciples tried to slip away unnoticed, people followed them anyway. They arrived only to find more crowds of people. This was certainly not the quiet time they had planned on. Being patient and kind, Jesus gave up what he wanted, and he began to teach the crowds.

Prayer
Dear God, thank you that Jesus gave up what he wanted, just so he could help other people. Help me to follow his example. Amen.

Mission for the Week
Spend some alone time with Jesus tonight. If you get interrupted because someone else needs help, that’s okay. Go help, and then come back to your alone time with Jesus again.

Parece que tanto vivir está tratando de descubrir qué es lo que se supone que debemos hacer. Perseguir la carrera, criar a los niños, planear las fiestas, diseñar el hogar, obtener el título, trabajar y levantarse y dar tiempo a Dios puede hacernos sentir como si hubiéramos estado ocupados para que no notamos cómo fuera de pista realmente somos. La gente a menudo me dice que están seguros de que tienen un propósito en este mundo y aún luchan por encontrar una razón para vivir. Cuando todo lo que perseguimos, la familia, el trabajo, las posesiones materiales y los deseos, nos dejan todavía sintiéndonos vacíos, ¿qué se supone que debemos hacer? Aunque recurrir a la Iglesia y a Dios puede darnos un significado más profundo, después de un período de tiempo podemos comenzar a preguntarnos si esto también es algo que nos distrae del verdadero significado de nuestra vida.

A medida que envejezco, veo que la mayoría de nuestras actividades nos mantienen en el centro de nuestras acciones. Incluso nuestra conexión con Dios está destinada a ayudarnos a cumplir algún tipo de significado en nuestras vidas. Todo esto tendría mucho sentido si no intentáramos acercarnos a la vida con algo de fe en lo divino. Una vez que agreguemos a Dios a la ecuación, necesariamente tenemos que sacarnos del centro y ponerlo allí. Para la mayoría de los creyentes, nos mantenemos en el centro y esperamos que Dios cumpla con nuestras expectativas. Al final, ya sea que creamos o no, con nosotros en el centro, claramente nos quedamos con el vacío.

Pon a Dios en el centro de tu vida. Es obvio y lo predicamos todo el tiempo. Es tan simple como luchar por darle la gloria en todo lo que decimos y hacemos. No te esfuerces por complacerte a ti mismo ni a nadie más. Esfuércese por agradar a Dios y todo y todos encontrarán su lugar apropiado. El verdadero propósito de nuestras vidas, la verdadera razón por la cual Dios nos creó, es simplemente revelarle al mundo Su presencia (como en "el reino está aquí") y Su amor (como en "Dios es amor"). Esto es agradable a Dios. No hay nada más que necesitemos hacer. Simplemente digale al mundo que cree en la Santísima Trinidad, y que Dios se encargará del resto. Puede encontrar su mundo exterior más vacío, pero su mundo interior estará lleno.

Serie De Verano: El Peregrino En La Casa

UN PEREGRINO PRÁCTICA LA ESPIRITUALIDAD SOMÁTICA

so · mat · ic [soh-mat-ik], adjetivo 1. del cuerpo; corporal; físico

Es el cuerpo que lleva al peregrino de un lugar a otro y los sentidos que sirven de conducto para las muchas experiencias culturales y espirituales que impregnan su ser en el camino. Incluso en el viaje interior, el peregrino sabe que las sensaciones externas pueden ayudarla a guiarla hasta su núcleo. De hecho, si no hubiera ningún significado corporal en la peregrinación física, entonces no serviría como una metáfora tan poderosa para nuestros viajes en la vida, verdad?

Aquí es donde entra la espiritualidad somática. La espiritualidad somática es simplemente una fe que incorpora el cuerpo como un participante vital y un recurso en nuestra búsqueda espiritual.

¿Necesitas un ejemplo? Si creciste en una familia cristiana, es probable que hayas sido entrenado espiritualmente en palabras, y a saber leyendo la Biblia, la memorización de las Escrituras, la conversación o la oración. Si bien cada una de estas cosas es valiosa, algunos días puede que te sientas agotado por todas las palabras, anhelando practicar una fe en la que te puedas conectar espiritualmente, y en ocasiones de manera mucho más profunda, de otras maneras. Dios no nos creó con solo una mente y nos llamó "buenos". Dios también nos creó con cuerpos que pueden ser vasos de expresión espiritual así como de recepción.

Nuestros cuerpos llevan tanta sabiduría y perspicacia como nuestras mentes. De hecho, nuestros cuerpos tienen la capacidad de descubrir verdades acerca de nuestra condición que nuestras mentes no permitirán que afloren cuando tratamos de mantener el control. El peregrino en un viaje físico conoce esta verdad, participando holísticamente en la práctica de la peregrinación al incorporar no solo la mente, sino también el cuerpo en su búsqueda espiritual.

PRÁCTICA ~ Camina por un laberinto. Si no tienes uno cerca, sigue un sendero sencillo. Comienza en casa, camina hacia su destino (el "centro" del laberinto) y luego regrese a casa por el mismo camino. Cuando camines hacia el "centro", contempla tu viaje hacia Dios. Una vez que llegues a su destino, haga una pausa por un tiempo en presencia de lo Divino. Al regresar a casa, reflexiona sobre cómo integrará sus Encuentros Sagrados en la vida cotidiana.

¿Cómo se comunica tu cuerpo de maneras en que las palabras no pueden?
Un buen serio puede verse atrapado haciendo y dando tanto cada día, que pierde de vista el hecho de que no puede dar lo que no tiene. Si no te queda tiempo, no puedes darlo. Si no te queda energía, no puedes darla. Finalmente, si estás nervioso y abrumado, no puedes dar aquello de lo que otros más se benefician: ¡TU!

Incluso al sembrar semillas en un jardín, después de labrar y regar el suelo, debemos descansar y esperar a que crezca. Si no nos tomamos un tiempo para descansar y recargar energías, no estamos dando tiempo a que la gracia de Dios produzca una nueva vida en nosotros. Tenemos que las cosas sufran sin nosotros, pero la verdad es que nadie se beneficia de nuestra fatiga. Podemos pensar que estamos dando, pero en realidad estamos vacíos. Tómate un tiempo para descansar en Dios. Retírate y recarga energías. Entonces, podrás volver a dar.

LA CORRESPONSABILIDAD DIARIA
Mi hija se abruma fácilmente cuando tiene mucho que hacer. Hace poco se graduó de la escuela secundaria y, durante esos cuatro años, más de una vez se volvió loca por la cantidad de cosas en las que participaba. Los deportes, el teatro, el grupo de jóvenes, las tareas, los amigos y más cosas demandaban casi toda su atención. A veces el tiempo que le quedaba no era mucho, ¡ni para dormir! Pero en sus momentos de ansiedad y fatiga, decidió pedirle a Jesús que le ayudara a manejar su tiempo. Entonces, podrás volver a dar.

VERSO DEL EVANGELIO DE DOMINGO
Cuando Jesús desembarcó, vio una numerosa multitud que lo estaba esperando y se compadeció de ellos, porque andaban como ovejas sin pastor, y se puso a enseñarles muchas cosas. - Mc 6, 34

MEDITACIÓN EVANGÉLICA
Todos necesitamos tiempo para descansar. Un lugar apartado del bullicio para estar a solas es importante de vez en cuando. Es hermoso ver en este Evangelio, que Jesús mismo invita a sus discípulos a apartarse del bullicio y de las personas que los buscaban. “Vámonos aparte, a un lugar retirado, y descansarán un poco. Porque eran tantos los que iban y venían que no les quedaba tiempo ni para comer” (Mc. 6:31-32). Jesús sabía de sobra que si la misión consumía a sus discípulos, no podrían llevarla a cabo. Se necesita un balance entre el trabajo y el descanso. Es importante fijarse en la actitud de Jesús. ¿Cómo responde Jesús cuando sus apóstoles regresan de la misión? ¿Cómo responde Jesús cuando la gente los sigue hasta encontrarlos?

La respuesta de Jesús es compasiva en ambas situaciones, y su enseñanza es importante. Pastorear, guiar, acompañar, no dejar a las personas a la deriva. El punto clave es saber cuándo es necesario un descanso y cuándo es tiempo de evangelizar. El reto para la sociedad de hoy es aprender a tomar un tiempo de descanso. Todos corren de un lado a otro. Van contra reloj. El trabajo y las actividades abruman. Los doctores, consejeros y psicólogos están saturados de pacientes con la enfermedad llamada tensión. Se debe poner en práctica la enseñanza de Jesús; saber descansar es esencial. Por ejemplo, los domingos son para estar con la familia y los amigos, para disfrutar de una buena comida junto con ellos. ¿Cuándo fue la última vez que fuiste de vacaciones con tu familia?

VIVIR LA LITURGIA
Las diversas imágenes que tenemos de Dios ayudan a enmarcar nuestra relación con Él. ¿Alguna vez hemos imaginado a Jesús profundamente conmovido con emoción y llanto por nosotros? A menudo somos ovejas sin pastor, atraídas por el vacío de las atracciones mundanas y los deseos superficiales. Nos hemos perdido. Dios está profundamente conmovido por nuestro dolor, nuestra soledad y nuestra angustia. Dios no juzga ni condena. Él ama, y es misericordia en sí mismo. Conoce de primera mano el dolor de estar perdido y solo, y quiere enseñarnos acerca de su misericordia. In today's gospel, we see how Jesus cared about people as a good shepherd cares for his sheep. Every Christian ought to be a person who cares about others. We sometimes tell people that we care about them yet we fail to prove it by our deeds.

We Pray:

Lord Jesus, look upon us and have pity on us, for at times we too, are like lost sheep.
Help us to follow you, even if it means leaving the crowd and walking a lonely path.

Lead us from death to life.
From error to truth,
From despair to hope,
From fear to trust,
From hate to love,
From war to peace.

Help us to listen to your voice, to trust you and to follow you, 'till we attain eternal life in your Kingdom.
