Pastor’s Corner

One of my sisters recently asked me how I handle the different tragedies that happen to my parishioners or what we see in the news. It was a difficult question, because in most cases I simply need to focus on the immediate demands that are calling my attention. I do pray for an end to war and violence and a strengthening of peace in our homes, community, and world. However, many times my response to such upsetting news as the school shooting in Santa Fe, Texas, seems to fall far short of the urgency demanded in such painful and disturbing situations. Should I be on the front lines telling everybody to push for stricter gun control? Should I be reminding everybody of the need to reach out to people on the margins of society? Should I quickly gather the community in a universal prayer vigil in our Cathedral? All these might be helpful and important responses to such tragedies. Nevertheless, I find myself simply saying “how terrible” and moving on to my meetings and sacraments and social gatherings.

Today we celebrate The Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity. There is comfort in knowing that, in the end, all things are in God’s hands. He somehow is changing our lowly bodies, and our very human pains, and raising us into His ever-glorified Essence.

Father Michael

All our tears are being gently wiped away. All our pain will be no more. Our God is love, and those who live in love, live in God. This message of God and His mighty works is always at the core of every response to any question.

Still, God does want us to gather in His name, reach out to the least of our brothers and sisters, and cure the sick in the world. The horrors of school shootings, the deaths in warring nations, and the continued evils of racism and class distinction should cause us to stop. These evils and many others can become so routine that we no longer are moved by them. Neither being glued to our news channel or our iPhones are holy responses. We may not be able to help directly in Santa Fe, but we can speak to any high-school student or family member and show our love and concern for them. We can read more to understand the conflicts throughout the world and learn to appreciate the complex relationships that surround us. We could certainly pray more. I could pray more. Let us pray for the holy embrace of the Father, Son, and Spirit to gather us together in His unity and His peace.

The Irrevocably Indissoluble Marriage

The Pharisees came to Jesus and asked Him, "Is it lawful for a man to put away (or divorce) his wife? Tempting him" (Mark 10:2). They weren’t just asking Him a random theological question; they were "tempting him". They wanted to see if they could entrap Him by eliciting a controversial and unorthodox answer that was contrary to the Law of Moses. The Pharisees often came to hear Jesus for themselves and to judge whether His teachings were as unlawful as they were rumored to be, "that they might accuse him" (Matthew 12:10; Mark 3:2; Luke 6:7, 11:54; John 8:6). Obviously the topic of divorce was not picked at random either. Jesus had often taught the immorality of divorce and the impossibility of licit remarriage (Matthew 19:3-9; Mark 10:1-12; Luke 16:18), which, to the ears of His contemporaries, was a novelty that contradicted the contemporary rabbinic tradition and the ancient Law of Moses (Deuteronomy 24:1).

When the Pharisees asked Him if it was "lawful" for a man to divorce his wife, Jesus turned the question right back on them, "What did Moses command you?" They answered correctly, "Moses suffered (or allowed us) to write a bill of divorcement and put her away" (10:4). Jesus countered with, "For the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept, but from the beginning of creation God made them male and female. ‘For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother and shall cleave to his wife and they two shall be one flesh’; so then, they are no more two but one flesh. What therefore God has joined together let not man put asunder” (Mark 10:5-8; Genesis 2:24).

John-David Black

The hardness of heart that made divorce a necessary evil was caused by the sin of Adam and Eve; after that it was overlooked by the Creator until marriage could be restored in Christ to its original state of grace (Ephesians 1:7-10). Jesus proclaimed the imminent redemption of humanity, and therefore it was necessary to announce the controversial truth that divorce, which up to that time had been lawful, was no longer an option for those whose marriage had been sacramentally contracted.

The preaching of the incarnate Word of God made divorce as unlawful as it had been "from the beginning". God gave the Old Testament Law to the Israelites using Moses as an intermediary (Galatians 3:19-20), but Christ, the Divine Word incarnate, gave us the Law of the New Testament, the Law of the Kingdom of God that He had come to inaugurate on earth; the Word of Christ Jesus is the direct and definitive testimony of God Himself (John 1:1-5; Hebrews 1:1-2). The Gospel presents us with the fullness of Divine Truth, and no teaching that came before or after it can challenge or contradict what Christ Himself proclaimed.

Much more has been given to us at Calvary than was ever given to the Israelites at Mt. Horeb: we not only received the fullness of Divine Truth in the preaching of Christ, but through the Sacraments we receive the limitless grace to live by that truth. Therefore, despite the ever changing circumstances and cultural values of the modern world, we are summoned to a higher calling, and as such are required to observe a more circumspect obedience to the One who declared, "All authority is given unto me in heaven and on earth", and "If you love me, keep my commandments" (Matthew 28:18; John 14:15, 21).
Pope Francis: A Man of His Word opens with a God’s-eye view on a city that is neither Rome nor Buenos Aires. It is Assisi, where a visionary named Francis challenged all of Christendom with his radical re-appropriation of the Gospel: his joyful celebration of the evangelical counsels, his enthusiastic embrace of poverty and of the poor and outcast, his celebration of the natural world, and his peacemaking efforts between Christians and Muslims, including his famed visit to the Sultan al-Kamil.

Wim Wenders, whose eclectic career has embraced arthouse dramas, documentaries, music videos and concert films, approaches the subject of his latest nonfiction film from an unusual perspective: the significance of an unprecedented papal name.

St. Francis of Assisi has long been among the most beloved of Catholic saints, even among those who don’t share his faith, and his most consequential 21st-century namesake remains popular among both Catholics and non-Catholics. Wenders sets out to connect the dots between the medieval Italian friar and the 21st-century Argentinean Pope, making the case that behind their widespread appeal is a message the world needs to hear.

A movie is only as good as its villain, and Wenders’ opening voice-over invokes nothing less than the problem of suffering and evil: natural disasters; terrorism and weapons of mass destruction; threats to the environment and extinction of species. Against this backdrop the “radical answers” of these two men named Francis stand out with fresh urgency.

Neither the life nor the papacy of the former Jorge Bergoglio is Wenders’ subject. Instead, Pope Francis focuses on characteristic themes of his preaching and teaching — particularly those most accessible to viewers of any faith or of none — as well as the engaging personality and common touch with which he advocates them.

Focusing on Franciscan answers to global problems means, on the one hand, that Pope Francis is wholly positive in tone. Whatever tensions exist between Francis’ message and his personal failings, or whatever stumbles, gaffes or controversies have marked his papacy, are beyond the scope of Wenders’ interest.

These include Francis’ advocacy for the poor, immigrants and refugees; the peril of consumerism and the problem of unjust distribution of wealth; stewardship of the environment and an integral ecology; the horror of war and international arms trade; and the importance of understanding and peaceful coexistence among the world’s religions.

Francis himself brings these themes to viewers, looking and speaking straight into the camera in excerpts of interviews shot for the film in various Vatican City locations, including the Vatican Gardens. Intercut with these interview clips are images from globe-hopping pastoral visits to the Americas, Africa, the Philippines and elsewhere, with the Pope interacting with children, prisoners, hospital volunteers, refugees and disaster victims. The flow of images is subtly enhanced by an unobtrusive string-based score (mostly bowed instruments with an occasional guitar).

As a final touch, Wenders highlights the Franciscan foundations of the Pope’s concerns with evocative footage shot to look like clips from some lost silent-era St. Francis movie that I now wish really existed. (Wenders cross-fades into the first of these clips, shot on a hand-cranked camera from the 1920s, from one of Giotto’s frescoes in the Upper Church of Assisi’s Basilica of St. Francis which the silent footage matches perfectly.)

Memorial Day

“No one has greater love than this, to lay down one’s life for one’s friends.” Christians are no strangers to sacrifice. Jesus lays down his life for our redemption, martyrs remain faithful to the end, and every believer faces “debts” in the spiritual life when love requires a re-ordering of preference and priority.

On Memorial Day, we honor those who laid down their lives for their nation and for the values we espouse - freedom, justice, and a better world for our children. In a day that often fills with barbecues and boat launches, remember to take some time in prayer! Intercede for those who have died and for the loved ones they left behind, and pray for peace on earth.

VISITATION of the Blessed Virgin Mary

This is a fairly late feast, going back only to the 13th or 14th century. It was established widely throughout the Church to pray for unity. The present date of celebration was set in 1969, in order to follow the Annunciation of the Lord and precede the Nativity of Saint John the Baptist.

Like most feasts of Mary, it is closely connected with Jesus and his saving work. The most visible actors in the visitation drama (see Luke 1:39-45) are Mary and Elizabeth. However, Jesus and John the Baptist steal the scene in a Hidden way. Jesus makes John leap with joy—the joy of messianic salvation. Elizabeth, in turn, is filled with the Holy Spirit and addresses words of praise to Mary—words that echo down through the ages.

It is helpful to recall that we do not have a journalist’s account of this meeting. Rather Luke, speaking for the Church, gives a prayerful poet’s rendition of the scene. Elizabeth’s praise of Mary as “the mother of my Lord” can be viewed as the earliest Church’s devotion to Mary. As with all authentic devotion to Mary, Elizabeth’s (the Church’s) words first praise God for what God has done to Mary. Only secondly does she praise Mary for trusting God’s words.

Then comes the Magnificat (Luke 1:46-55). Here, Mary herself—like the Church—traces all her greatness to God.

Reflection

One of the invocations in Mary’s litany is “Ark of the Covenant.” Like the Ark of the Covenant of old, Mary brings God’s presence into the lives of other people. As David danced before the Ark, John the Baptist leaps for joy. As the Ark helped to unite the 12 tribes of Israel by being placed in David’s capital, so Mary has the power to unite all Christians in her son. At times, devotion to Mary may have occasioned some divisiveness, but we can hope that authentic devotion will lead all to Christ and therefore, to one another.

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP

My wife and I have used the same baptismal gown for all 3 of our children. It is a very long traditional gown made with fabric taken from my wife’s first communion dress and my mother-in-law’s wedding gown. It is a symbol not just of each child being washed clean by the sacrament, but also of family and how faith has been passed down through generations. Faith is a gift and that gown shows how this family has taken seriously the cultivation of that faith and the sharing of it with those we love the most.

By our baptism we are called to a discipleship that compels us to share our faith with others. It is not always easy, but it would be wrong to hord that faith and not let it shine for others to see. When we think about a stewardship way of life, we sometimes focus on material goods, our talents and skills, or our time. But faith is a gift that needs to be treated in a similar way. We are heirs with Jesus Christ to this rich tapestry of faith and the Church. If all of us were to hide that faith and not seek to share it with others, that lineage would end with us.

We live during a time in history where in some lands people are finding Jesus in huge numbers, while in other places the numbers of people in the pews is declining sharply. We can spend all our time talking about these realities or we can choose to respond to our baptismal call. Jesus commanded us to go forth and make disciples of all nations. Maybe we can begin with our neighbor.

Sharing the Gospel
- As the disciples ate with friends, traveled, worked, shopped, and made new friends, they were to have one goal in mind-help more people follow Jesus. Baptize them in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Teach them to love God and love each other. Teach them to have mercy and forgive each other. Teach them to be humble. Teach them to pray. Teach them to share. And teach them to tell the people they met how to follow Jesus, too.

Prayer
- Dear God, help me to teach my friends how to love and follow you-Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Amen.

Mission for the Week
- When we read the Gospel, Jesus teaches us about the Father. What have you learned so far about the Holy Spirit? Using the concordance found at the back of your Bible, look up “Holy Spirit.” As a family, write down the verses, find them in your Bible, and read them out loud. Talk about each verse. If you have any questions, write them down and ask your pastor or teacher for help.

Domingo de la Trinidad

Una de mis hermanas recientemente me preguntó cómo manejo las diferentes tragedias que le suceden a mis feligreses o lo que vemos en las noticias. Fue una pregunta difícil, porque en la mayoría de los casos simplemente necesito enfocarme en las demandas inmediatas que llaman mi atención. Rezo por el fin de la guerra y la violencia y por el fortalecimiento de la paz en nuestros hogares, nuestra comunidad y nuestro mundo. Sin embargo, muchas veces mi respuesta a noticias tan perturbadoras como el tiroteo en la escuela en Santa Fe, Texas, parece ser muy inferior a la urgencia que se exige en situaciones tan dolorosas e inquietantes. ¿Debería estar en la línea del frente diciéndoles a todos que presionen por un control de armas más estricto? ¿Debería recordarles a todos la necesidad de acercarnos a las personas al margen de la sociedad? ¿Debo reunir rápidamente a la comunidad en una vigilia de oración universal en nuestra Catedral? Todas estas pueden ser respuestas útiles e importantes a tales tragedias. Sin embargo, me encuentro simplemente diciendo “qué terrible” y pasando a mis reuniones y sacramentos y reuniones sociales.

Aún así, Dios quiere que nos reunamos en Su nombre, nos acerquemos al más pequeño de nuestros hermanos, y curemos a los enfermos en el mundo. Los horrores de los tiroteos en las escuelas, las muertes en las naciones beligerantes y los continuos males del racismo y la distinción de clases deberían hacer que nos detengamos. Estos males y muchos otros pueden volverse tan rutinarios que ya no nos conmueven. Ni estar pegados a nuestro canal de noticias ni a nuestros IPhones son respuestas sagradas. Es posible que no podamos ayudar directamente en Santa Fe, pero podemos hablar con cualquier estudiante de secundaria o miembro de la familia y mostrar nuestro amor y preocupación por ellos. Podemos leer más para comprender los conflictos en todo el mundo y aprender a apreciar las relaciones complejas que nos rodean. Sin en duda podríamos orar más. Podría orar más. Recemos por el abrazo santo del Padre, Hijo y Espíritu para reunirnos en Su unidad y Su paz.

El matrimonio irrevocablemente indissoluble

Los fariseos se acercaron a Jesús y le preguntaron: “¿Es lícito al hombre repudiar (o divorciarse) de su mujer? Tentatorio” (Marcos 10: 2). No solo le estaban haciendo una pregunta teológica al azar: lo estaban "tentando". Querían ver si podrían atraparlo al obtener una respuesta polémica y poco ortodoxa que era contraria a la Ley de Moisés. Los fariseos a menudo venían a escuchar a Jesús por sí mismos y juzgar si sus enseñanzas eran iguales como se rumoreaba que eran, “para acusarlo” (Mateo 12:10, Marcos 3: 2, Lucas 6: 7, 11; 54; Juan 8: 6). Obviamente, el tema del divorcio tampoco se eligió al azar. Jesús a menudo había enseñado la inmoralidad del divorcio y la imposibilidad de un nuevo matrimonio lícito (Mateo 19: 3-9, Marcos 10: 1-12, Lucas 16:18), que, para los oídos de sus contemporáneos, era una novedad que contradecía la tradición rabinica contemporánea y la antigua Ley de Moisés (Deuteronomio 24: 1).

Cuando los fariseos le preguntaron si era “legal” que un hombre se divorciara de su esposa, Jesús les devolvió la pregunta: “¿Qué te ordenó Moisés?” Respondieron correctamente, “Moisés sufrió (o nos permitió) para escribir una carta de divorcio y la dejó” (10: 4). Jesús respondió: “Por la dureza de tu corazón él te escribió este precepto, pero desde el principio de la creación Dios los hizo varón y hembra.” Por esta causa un hombre dejará a su padre y a su madre y se unirá a su esposa y ellos dos serán una sola carne. “Así que, ya no son más dos, sino una sola carne. Lo que Dios ha unido, no lo separe el hombre” (Marcos 10: 5-8; Génesis 2:24).

Jesús enseña que “desde el principio”, es decir, desde la creación del mundo, el matrimonio debía ser irrevocablemente indisoluble. La dureza del corazón que hizo del divorcio un mal necesario fue causado por el pecado de Adán y Eva; después de eso, el Creador lo pasó por alto hasta que el matrimonio pudiera restaurarse en Cristo a su estado original de gracia (Efesios 1: 7-10). Jesús proclamó la redención inminente de la humanidad y, por lo tanto, era necesario anunciar la polémica verdad de que el divorcio, que hasta ese momento había sido legal, ya no era una opción para aquellos cuyo matrimonio había sido sacramentalmente contraído.

La predicación de la Palabra de Dios encarnada hizo el divorcio tan ilegal como lo había sido “desde el principio”. Dios dio la Ley del Antiguo Testamento a los israelitas usando a Moisés como intermediario (Gálatas 3: 19-20), pero Cristo, el Verbo Divino encarnado, nos dio la Ley del Nuevo Testamento, la Ley del Reino de Dios que él tenía ven a inaugurar en la tierra; la Palabra de Cristo Jesús es el testimonio directo y definitivo de Dios mismo (Juan 1: 1-5, Hebreos 1: 1-2). El Evangelio nos presenta la plenitud de la Verdad Divina, y ninguna enseñanza anterior o posterior puede desafiar o contradecir lo que Cristo mismo proclamó.

MUCHO MÁS SE NOS HA DADO EN EL CALVARIO DE LO QUE ALGUNA VEZ SE LE DIO A LOS ISRAELITAS EN EL MONTE. HOREB: NO SOLO RECIBIMOS LA PLENTUD DE LA VERDAD DIVINA EN LA PREDICACIÓN DE CRISTO, SINO QUE A TRAVÉS DE LOS SACRAMENTOS RECIBIMOS LA GRACIA ILIMITADA DE VIVIR SEGÚN ESA VERDAD. POR LO TANTO, A PESAR DE LAS CIRCUNSTANCIAS SIEMPRE CAMBIANTES Y LOS VALORES CULTURALES DEL MUNDO MODERNO, SOMOS CONVOCADOS A UN LLAMADO MÁS ELEVADO, Y COMO TALES ESTAMOS OBSECUOS A OBEDECER UNA OBEDIENCIA MÁS CIRCUNSCrita A AQUEL QUE DECLARÓ: “TODA AUTORIDAD ME ES DADA EN EL CIELO Y EN LA TIERRA”, Y SI ME AMAS, GUARDA MIS MANDAMIENTOS” (Mateo 28:18, Juan 14:15, 21).

MEDITACIÓN EVANGÉLICO

Para estar en sintonía con el Evangelio debemos de comprender y reflexionar desde el corazón el significado de las palabras de Jesús. “Vayan, pues, y hagan que todos los pueblos sean mis discípulos. Bautícesen en el Nombre del padre y del Hijo y del Espíritu Santo, y enseñéis a cumplir todo lo que yo os he encomendado a ustedes. Yo estoy con ustedes todos los días hasta el fin de la historia”. (Mateo 28:19-20). En este pasaje, celebramos la Soledad de la Santísima Trinidad, Jesús envía a sus discípulos a bautizar, en el nombre del Padre, del Hijo y del Espíritu Santo. Al mismo tiempo, Jesús revela toda su atención, en la relación con su Padre cuando declara. “Me ha sido dada toda autoridad en el Cielo y en la tierra”. (Mateo 28:18). Como bautizados, profesamos nuestra fe en la Trinidad y somos partícipes de la celebración de una íntima relación con Dios Padre, Dios Hijo y Dios Espíritu Santo.

¿Cuándo la Trinidad toca mi vida de fe? ¿Cómo cumplio todo lo que Jesús me invita a hacer por los demás? Enseñar y cumplir todo, pero todo el Evangelio es tarea de toda la vida, es un proceso fe. El Papa Francisco dijo en el Angelus del 26 de Mayo de 2013. “La Trinidad es el rostro con el que Dios se ha revelado a sí mismo, no desde lo alto de un trono, sino caminando con la humanidad”. El continuo diciendo. “Hoy es Domingo de la Santísima Trinidad. La luz del tiempo pascual y de Pentecostés renueva cada año en nosotros la alegría y el asombro de la fe: reconocemos que Dios no es algo vago? es concreto, no es abstracto, sino que tiene una nombre: Dios es amor.”

"Vayan, pues, y enseñen a todas las naciones, bautizándolas en el nombre del Padre y del Hijo y del Espíritu Santo, y enseñándolas a cumplir todo cuanto yo les he mandado; y sepan que yo estaré con ustedes todos los días, hasta el fin del mundo.” ~Mt 28, 19-20~

最神聖的聖三

何光榮神父

上個主日慶祝的五旬節提醒我們，除非我們用聖神恩賜的能力，否則我們不能理解主的真理。即使宗徒們也因沒有聖神的恩賜而無法認出他們所認識和愛的耶穌的所有真理。對我們也是如此。我們需要聖神去了解耶穌。

為了到達聖父哪裡去，我們需要跟隨聖子。我們聽到耶穌說：「你們要相信我：我在父內，父也在我內。」(若十四11) 所以聖三的奧跡也是如此，也是基督徒信仰生活的核心。這就是為什麼我們以聖父，聖子和聖神之名開始和結束一切的活動。

The Most Holy Trinity by Fr. Nicholas Ho

The feast of the Pentecost that we celebrated last week reminded us that we cannot begin to understand the truth of God unless we are gifted with the power of the Spirit. Even the apostles could not recognize the full truth about the Jesus they knew and loved without the gift of the Spirit. The same is true for us. For us to understand Jesus we need the Spirit.

To reach the Father we need to go to the Son. We hear Jesus said: "Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father is in me" (John 14:11). So it is the same with the mystery of the Trinity, which is at the heart of the Christian life of faith. This is why we begin and end everything 'in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit'.
